— Categories: Real Estate

A newly built penthouse in the heart of Seahouses has hit the market at £1 million. It offers an expansive, high-end retreat with unrivalled views across the Northumberland coastline.

Farne House, a standout development in the popular seaside village, features a three-bedroom penthouse apartment designed to the highest standards, boasting more than 2,000 square feet of refined living space. The property, now listed for sale, promises both elegance and practicality, ideal for those looking to invest in a luxurious holiday let or a second home.

Situated on the picturesque Northumberland coast, the penthouse offers panoramic views of the harbour, Bamburgh Castle, and Holy Island, giving residents a front-row seat to some of the most scenic views in the region. The open-plan kitchen, dining, and living area is the centrepiece of the home, flooded with natural light and framed by large windows and patio doors. These open onto a sheltered balcony that provides year-round outdoor space, perfectly suited for watching the sea roll in or the sun set over the castle.

Inside, the interiors showcase premium quality throughout. The kitchen comes complete with marble countertops, integrated top-spec appliances, and a generous breakfast island, creating an ideal environment for entertaining or relaxed coastal living. Every element, from lighting to layout, has been considered, delivering a sense of understated sophistication.

Coastal Luxury

Each of the three bedrooms includes an en-suite bathroom and a Juliette balcony, allowing occupants to wake up to fresh sea air and stunning views. The master suite elevates luxury with a freestanding Villeroy & Boch bath, a walk-in rainfall shower, and refined finishes. The two additional bedrooms follow suit with their own high-spec rainfall showers and fittings that exude quality.

Beyond the living spaces, the property offers functional amenities such as a utility room, a dedicated boiler room, and substantial storage. It also includes an allocated parking space within the development, and the layout allows for future lift installation for enhanced accessibility.

Carter Jonas, the estate agent handling the sale, has described the penthouse as “meticulously designed and an exceptional example of luxury coastal living.” They highlight that the layout and quality finish make it particularly well-suited to the holiday let market, where demand remains strong for high-end coastal escapes.

The village of Seahouses itself continues to grow in popularity, with its charm, local eateries, and access to iconic landmarks like the Farne Islands drawing tourists throughout the year. Properties of this calibre rarely come to market in the area, particularly with such expansive views and modern finishes.

With its premium design and unique coastal location, this penthouse offers an opportunity to own a piece of prime British coastline with all the comforts of modern luxury. Farne House is well worth viewing for potential buyers seeking a serene escape or a strong holiday let investment.

The listing is currently live with Carter Jonas, and private appointments can be arranged.
