

OpenVoiceNews U.S.

Transparent. Unbiased. Yours.

Omaha Police Searching for Suspect After South Omaha Domestic Incident

July 29, 2025

– Categories: Crime

A man was left with minor injuries following a domestic disturbance early Tuesday morning in the South Omaha area, as police continue to search for the suspect who fled before officers arrived.

The Omaha Police Department (OPD) responded to the call shortly after 1 a.m. near 16th and Pine Streets. Officers were dispatched to the scene after a report of a domestic issue involving two individuals.

Upon arrival, law enforcement found one man injured, though the injuries were described as minor. No additional victims were reported, and the area was secured shortly after the incident was assessed.

The suspect reportedly left the scene before police could make contact. As of Tuesday morning, the individual remained at large, and police confirmed that a search was underway.

Investigators have not released the name or description of the suspect and have not indicated whether the person is considered armed. No further details about the nature of the domestic disturbance have been shared.

Authorities continue to monitor the area while reviewing available evidence. The investigation is active, and officers are working to determine the full circumstances surrounding the incident.

As the search continues, residents in the South Omaha neighborhood are being advised to remain aware of their surroundings.

Police have not announced any arrests in connection with the incident. Officials have also not disclosed whether charges are expected to be filed once the suspect is located.

The Omaha Police Department encourages anyone to come forward with information about the suspect's whereabouts or the events leading up to the disturbance.