Australian influencer couple Jesse and Melco Hall have officially listed their uniquely designed “healing” home in Melbourne, offering buyers a rare chance to own a property rooted in wellness, style, and intention.

Australian influencer couple Jesse and Melco Hall have officially listed their eye-catching designer home in Melbourne, offering potential buyers a rare chance to own a property built around wellness, style, and intention.

Known across social media for their lifestyle content and wellness-focused approach to living, the couple carefully crafted the residence to reflect their values of mindfulness, beauty, and healing. The result is a home that not only stands out for its architectural flair but also offers a peaceful environment designed to calm the mind and body.

The Melbourne property, now on the market, has been described as a “healing” home, a term the couple embraces to represent the energy and atmosphere they aimed to create. From soothing colour palettes and organic textures to purposeful design choices, every element of the space reflects a deep commitment to wellbeing. The home incorporates natural materials, open-plan layouts, and curated artworks that blend functionality with personal expression.

Jesse and Melco, who have amassed a large following through their work in content creation, fashion, and wellness, say the home is more than just a living space, it’s a sanctuary. Each room has been thoughtfully styled to create a serene ambiance, with features such as soft lighting, handcrafted furnishings, and spaces for meditation or quiet reflection.

The couple also took care to include bespoke details that align with their holistic lifestyle, such as sustainable finishes and indoor greenery, further enhancing the home’s calming and grounded feel. The home’s unique design is already drawing attention, especially among buyers looking for a retreat-like residence in the heart of the city.

While the decision to sell did not come lightly, Jesse and Melco say it reflects the next phase of their journey. As they explore new personal and professional opportunities, they hope the home’s next owners will feel the same connection to its healing qualities and stylish comforts.

Real estate agents are highlighting the home’s rare blend of luxury and wellness, a combination that continues to grow in popularity, especially among health-conscious buyers.

The property is expected to generate strong interest, both for its influencer roots and for its peaceful, well-designed layout that encourages a more balanced way of living.

In today’s fast-paced world, a home that offers calm and inspiration is more valuable than ever. For those looking to embrace a lifestyle rooted in wellness and design, this influencerbuilt “healing” home may be the perfect fit.
