Luxury Port Douglas Holiday Home with Car and Furniture Package Listed for Sale

July 20, 2025

— Categories: Real Estate

A high-end holiday home in Port Douglas, Queensland (Qld), offering impressive income potential and a turnkey lifestyle, has officially hit the market. The fully furnished property, named Anjea, is being sold complete with a vehicle and has the capacity to generate up to $640,000 annually if fully booked through short-term holiday letting. With weekly rental rates topping $12,000 during peak seasons, this property presents an enviable opportunity for investors seeking both luxury and returns.

Situated in one of Australia's most sought-after tropical destinations, Anjea is more than just a home; it's a complete resort-style experience. From its lush landscaped gardens to its expansive entertaining areas and private pool, the home has been crafted with premium holidaymakers in mind. The fact that it's being sold with all furniture, appliances, and even a vehicle included only enhances its appeal, making it ideal for buyers looking to seamlessly enter the lucrative tourism rental market without the hassle of setup or furnishing costs.

According to local agents, the property has already built a strong reputation on short-stay platforms and attracts high-end clientele from across the country and overseas. Its strategic location, within easy reach of the Great Barrier Reef and Daintree Rainforest, further adds to its allure. Port Douglas has long been a magnet for tourists looking for luxury escapes, and properties like Anjea are in limited supply. With demand continuing to rise and Qld's regional travel market showing resilience, particularly in the post-pandemic era, this property stands as a strong asset in a high-performance location.

In a time when uncertainty clouds many sectors of the property market, high-end holiday homes in tourism hotspots continue to command attention. For discerning investors seeking lifestyle and cashflow in equal measure, Anjea is a rare find. With its fully equipped status, consistent income stream, and a slice of Far North Qld paradise on offer, this property isn't just a holiday home – it's a fully functioning business wrapped in tropical luxury. In the right hands, Anjea offers not only a slice of the good life, but a sound investment in Australia's growing luxury short-term rental market.
