This immaculate Woodside property at 353 Nairne Road presents a rare opportunity for buyers seeking a premium lifestyle home in the Adelaide Hills. Designed and built by Klemm Homes, the residence was completed in 2024 and offers a blend of luxury, functionality, and expansive acreage rarely found in the area.

Owners Edwina Harrison and her partner Matt Penny have spent five years shaping this impressive estate. The home features 593 square meters of living space with four bedrooms, three bathrooms, a study, and a home theatre. The open-plan kitchen, dining, and living areas flow seamlessly to an outdoor entertainer's terrace equipped with a fully functional outdoor kitchen overlooking an inground pool and spa. The sleek black-and-white interior design complements the modern, airy feel of the home.

Beyond the main residence, the property boasts top-tier equestrian facilities including seven stables, two storerooms, a large shed, and a separate three-bedroom dwelling with its own open-plan kitchen and living area. These amenities surround an Olympic-sized arena, round and horse yards, and ten irrigated paddocks, ideal for horse enthusiasts or those seeking a hobby farm.

Harrison highlights the uniqueness of the 20-acre parcel, noting, "Every square inch of this property is usable, which is very rare in this area. We didn't spare any expense building a spectacular family home that functions beautifully." She adds that the panoramic views stretch from Charleston to Woodside, Lenswood, Mt. Lofty, and Stirling, providing a breathtaking backdrop for daily life.

Despite their emotional connection to the home, the couple is ready to move on to new projects. Best offers for this exceptional property close at 1 p.m. on August 13, offering a promising chance for a discerning buyer to enjoy this luxurious Adelaide Hills retreat.
